

Outlook For An Increased Tobacco Crop

The latest statistics prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture in regard to the growing crop of tobacco indicates a production for the current year considerably in excess of 1919.

Favorable growing weather during the month of July prevented the crop showing a decline in condition, and in this respect there is reported an increase of 5.6 per cent compared with the ten-year average condition on Aug. 1. The total yield of tobacco in the United States for 1920 is placed at 1,544,489,000 lbs., based on the condition of the crop on Aug. 1. This would indicate an increase over the yield of last year amounting to 155,031,000 pounds, or about 11 per cent.

Virginia and North Carolina contribute the heaviest increases for the current year, although Maryland, South Carolina and Georgia are credited with materially larger production than last year. Compared with the forecasted production, based on the condition of the growing crop on July 1, 1920, the August figures show an increase of 42,689,000 pounds, or 3 per cent.

18th Reunion of Morgan's Men

The eighteenth annual reunion of the Morgan's Men Association began Tuesday at Olympian Springs. W. H. Robb, first vice president, presiding in the absence of President Steve G. Sharp, whose arrival was delayed by the breaking down of his automobile on the way to the reunion from Covington.

A brief night session also was held and old songs of the South were sung by the veterans, many of their admirers, guests of the hotel, joining in the singing.

Statements in regard to the death of General Morgan at Greenville, Tenn., where he was killed and a letter from a Federal soldier, in which the facts of the General's untimely end were recounted, were read at the afternoon session. It was brought out that the General was actually killed by a Federal soldier named Andrew Campbell.

Thirty-seven of the veterans had registered Wednesday for the reunion, eleven less than the total a year ago.

The session was called to order by President Sharp, the logmeter doxology was sung and Chaplain C. H. Lee, Jr., offered prayer.

The muster roll, both of the living and dead, was called.

Resolutions expressing the love and sympathy of the veterans for Judge J. D. Hunt were offered, and Secretary H. M. Taylor was instructed to write to him at Lexington. He is one of the members of the original executive committee of 1903.

The committee on final disposition of the records of the association could not reach a unanimous decision and put the matter up to the association. The organization decided that the records should remain in the custody of the secretary as long as reunions are held and then go to the Kentucky State Historical Society.

The officers elected were: First vice-president, W. H. Robb, of Helena Station; second vice-president, W. J. Stone, Frankfort; third vice-president, Elley Blackburn, Georgetown.; Executive committee: George B. Taylor, Nicholasville; A. W. Macklin, Frankfort; C. H. Meng, North Middletown; M. H. Haggard, Georgetown; Walter Muthews, Mayslick.

President Steve G. Sharp, of Covington, and Secretary Horace M. Taylor, of Carlisle, were elected last year for life.

Captain W. J. Stone called attention to the meeting of the Kentucky division, U. C. V., at the State Fair grounds, Sept. 15, and to the National U. C. V. reunion at Houston, Texas, October 6 to 9, with railroad rates at a cent a mile.

E. Polk Johnson, of Louisville, reported on the progress on the Jefferson Davis monument and took subscriptions.

Meeting Called

T. B. Hill has called a meeting of the tobacco growers of the county at the Court House Saturday, September 4th, to hear the report of the committee appointed at the Lexington meeting of Aug. 18th. It is earnestly hoped that every grower in the county will be present on that date, as matters of vital interest will be brought up.

Farm Borrowers Plan To Organize

National organization of the cooperative farmer borrowers of the United States into one great voluntary, self-help movement, with headquarters in Washington, is now under way, according to a statement from the National Board of Farm Organizations.

These borrowers represent 4,000 farm loan associations, already organized under the Federal Loan Act. They will first form into state unions from which will be organized the national union. The new organization is being promoted by the National Board of Farm Organizations, who have enlisted the assistance of W. W. Flanagan, who, until August 7 was secretary of the Federal Farm Loan Board.

The movement to organize has arisen out of the crisis facing the Federal Farm Loan System, whose activities are now paralyzed because of a suit to test the constitutionality of the act now pending in the United States Supreme Court. The system, it is said, has had great opposition from private farm mortgage bankers.

Letters sent out by the National Board of Farm Organizations a few days ago, offering assistance, have had immediate response. Already the local associations in Virginia are arranging to hold a State meeting in Lynchburg August 26. The Virginia Farmers' Union is assisting in the formation of a borrowers' union in that state.

Ohio farm loan associations are expected to complete early organization. Their representatives have been asked to meet in Columbus Sept. 2. The promoters of the new organization are highly encouraged by the strong endorsement given the idea by former Senator Hollins, who introduced the act in the senate and had charge of its passage.

In a statement covering the purpose for which the new union is being formed, the National Board of Farm Organization says: The plan of the National Union of a Farm Loan Association provides that it shall be democratically organized on a voluntary basis by the local farm associations. These locals will form into State unions as soon as conventions can be held. At the conventions delegates will be selected to attend a national convention. This national convention will be called when the State unions have been formed.

"The avowed purpose of the National Union is to protect its member associations; to give national voice and weight to their just demands; to maintain headquarters in Washington with representatives who will appear, when necessary, before congressional committees and other governmental bodies, and to carry on educational work with the membership and with the public when this may be advisable.

"The National Union is designed to meet just such emergencies as the present crisis. It will be powerful enough to meet them and to counteract, whenever necessary, and without fear of 'discipline' and harmful tendencies resulting from bureaucratic governmental control."

Flying School For Lexington

The directors of the Lexington Board of Commerce have given informal endorsement of the proposed School of Aviation which will be established in Lexington in the near future.

Captain Wilford Beaver and J. O. Creech, expert pilots, and Colonel James Muret, who are promoting interest in the school appeared before that body several days ago and Captain Beaver set forth fully the plans under which the company will operate. He made such a favorable impression by his statement that President Jones appointed Directors Brower, Dalton and Treacy to confer with him and his associates about the further details of the plan to organize a stock company there.

Captain Beaver said that the school would engage in all of the activities of the big stations in other cities, not only teaching pupils, but operating passenger and express service, maintaining repair station for tourist aviators, and doing exhibition work. The school, he said, would put Lexington on the direct air route from New York to New Orleans and South American points. A company with a capital of $15,000 will be organized. Three ships will be purchased at the outset. A school has been established at Barboursville and is now operating successfully.

We have several cars of good coal on hand. Better order your winter's supply NOW.—Mt. Sterling Commission & Storage Co.

Congressman Fields Here

Hon. W. J. Fields, Congressman from this district, was in this city a short while yesterday morning. Congressman Fields is an alert representative and with the experience he has had in public affairs is better qualified to look after the party and district interest than he has ever been. The fact is, he knows how and does things. We look to see Congressman Fields register a larger majority this fall than ever before. The people know Mr. Fields and take no chances when they elect him, and then they know more, he is not a partisan congressman for, while strictly a Democrat, he is a representative of the interests of his entire constituency and such a representative is an honor to the State and his party as well.

Cange in Charge for Telephone Service

After September 1st, all subscribers not taking the unlimited 'phone service will pay the sum of five cents for each call to any telephone in Montgomery county outside of the city limits. By using the unlimited service the rate on business telephones is raised one dollar, while that on residence telephones is raised fifty cents over the old rate as provided by the franchise granted the company to do business in this city.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMENTS

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN—IT'S YOU

If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.
It isn't the town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead.
When everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.

day." Come over, some of you Winchester fellows and we'll show you how it is done.

We now have 48 firm memberships and 48 individuals; some membership, we'll say, for a town the size of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery County.

The last lunch-meeting was the largest we have ever had; one of the best lunches, one of the most enthusiastic meetings and more, real, "sho' nuff" business transacted than ever before. August is a quiet month—so we are told—with all commercial bodies, and if we can have such a gathering and such enthusiasm in that month, we predict some splendid meetings during the coming fall and winter months.

President Hoffman and Secretary Sharp have installed a wonderful card system of keeping track of the members, showing just what lunches each member attends—and those he misses; the meetings of the Board of Directors, those present and those absent. These will be compiled and published at some future date. See if YOU can't have your name show up fine as among those who are HELPING the Chamber of Commerce. You do this if in no other way than attending the meetings.

AMERICAN RED CROSS TO GIVE RURAL HELP

Program for Public Health and Community Welfare Is Now Well Under Way.

Rural communities and towns of less than 8,000 population benefit in a very large part by the public health and community welfare work of the American Red Cross. Almost all of the 8,600 Red Cross chapters have some rural sections in their territory. Therefore the Red Cross Rural Service.

Briefly, the purpose of Rural Service is to assist people to get out of life more health, wealth and happiness. In this purpose public health instruction and general educational progress of both children and adults play a big part.

Recreation is found to be one of the biggest needs in rural life. There is lack of sufficient play-life for the children and social life for the adults. Picnics, pageants, debating clubs, baseball leagues, community singing and other social events which bring the people of surrounding communities together have been organized and carried on under the guidance of Red Cross rural workers to great advantage. In many instances solving recreational problems and getting people together proves to be the awakening of the community to other conditions which may be improved by united action.

As a result of community organization, townships in which there had been neither plans nor interest in community progress have been organized to work together with the unified purpose of bringing their community up to the most enlightened standards. Lecture and musical entertainment courses have been started as a result of community meetings, as well as circulating libraries, Red Cross schools of instruction in Home Nursing, Care of the Sick and First Aid. In the larger towns the need for restrooms and public comfort stations is being met. Playgrounds for the children have been established and recreational activities worked out for the year.

In order that there may be concerted effort in carrying on the programs of the various welfare agencies in the rural districts, Red Cross Rural Service helps the organizations already on the ground. The main object of the service is to lend a hand everywhere and take the lead only where necessary.

Wonders of the Heavens.

People in the southern hemisphere see different stars, but there are some constellations which are visible at different times of the year in both hemispheres. If the earth axis kept always perpendicular to the plane of its orbit none of the northern constellations would ever be seen in the southern hemisphere, but as the axis inclines first one way and then the other, some of both sets can be seen at different times.

NOW THE SILVER BRICK GAME

Variation of the "Gold Brick" Swindle Which Numbered Its Victims by the Thousands.

Silver bricks, if astutely handled, may prove as profitable as the gold bricks of old. In this story from Texas, New York, once famous as a gold brick market, plays a part. A Laredo business man recently received two bricks, apparently of silver, from a person in Matehuala, Mex., with instructions to sell them on commission at $16 a pound. The Laredo man engaged some one else to peddle the bricks for him, and a sale to a firm of Mexican commission men there was negotiated, they paying $535 for the bricks which they believed to be of pure silver and which were sold to them in good faith. Forthwith the commission men sent the silver bricks to a trust company in New York with instructions to sell them at the present market price of silver. A few days ago a telegram was received by the unfortunate Mexican firm stating that the supposed silver bricks had been sent to the mint—and returned with the information that they were worthless. The denouement is: "The man in Matehuala has his money, the Laredo man has his, while the members of the commission firm have two bricks, and are minus express charges.—New York Evening Post.

"Sergeant-Majorism" Is by No Means Confined to the Men Clothed in Army Uniform.

The war has been responsible for many new words, and the term "sergeant-majorism" conveys a meaning which is well understood, not only in the British army but by the average civilian, though not always by this title. A good sergeant-major is invaluable in the army, and it is the ambition of nearly every soldier to rise some day to the dizzy heights of a warrant officer. The sergeant-major has a certain amount of power, and sometimes tries to make things uncomfortable for those who do not "bow down" before him. Unfortunately, the type of person who flaunts his petty powers in one's face is not confined to the army, and because there are today few people who have not met with this type, the term "sergeant-majorism" has, not unnaturally, come into more or less general usage.—Christian Science Monitor.

POWERFUL CAR DUMPERS.

There are many powerful car dumpers in this country, but the largest and most interesting installation of this character is that of the Norfolk & Western railroad at Sewell's Point, Hampton Roads, Va., which has been in operation but a short time. The new installation handles two 60-ton cars simultaneously. Two loaded cars standing end to end are overturned sidewise, and their contents dumped. American dumpers always operate by overturning the cars sidewise, thus differing from standard British machines. These latter tip the cars endwise.

NEW WAY TO GET LANOLIN.

Before the war nearly all the lanolin was made in Belgium and Germany by secret processes. A company just formed in Melbourne, Australia, has discovered a process of extracting the grease from wool at very cheap cost, and the product is absolutely pure.

BRUTALIZED BY WAR SERVICE

Man With Experience in Recent War Has Poor Opinion of European Soldier's Mentality.

The result of the European system of universal enlistment, with age limit stretched both ways to the utmost physical possibility, combined with the different social stratification of European society, was that the bulk of European armies was composed of peasants and laborers on an average level of education much below that of the American expeditionary forces. The importance of this point will become clear in the light of the statement, to which most psychologists agree, that the brutalizing effect of combatant life is likely to be in inverse ratio to the previous mental development of the individual considered, writes Henry de Man in Scribner's.

"My own conclusions, based on a three years' experience of trench life, is that a minimum of education, sufficient to ennoble men's actions with the consciousness of a voluntarily accepted and reasoned altruistic aim in fighting, is the only thing that can—and even then not always does—prevent habitual combatant activity from resulting in a considerable lowering of the combatant's moral level. I further have come to the conclusion that the mentality of the majority of European soldiers was distinctly below this minimum level."

SAVING CLOVER SEED IS ECONOMICAL NOW

The department of agronomy, College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, advises the saving of clover seed this year for home use. Many more fields could have profitably saved seed this year if clover hullers were available. The second crop of clover made a good growth in many parts of the state this year. Despite the fact that seeds saved without a huller are difficult to sow, it is, however, practical to save seed for home use.

The seed should be cut and raked into small windrows as soon as the seed heads are brown and the seed hard and glossy. It is a good plan to set the cutter as high as possible as the amount of straw to be handled will thus be reduced. Put the clover under cover when it is thoroughly dried or stack it and cover the stack with straw. During the late winter this material can be spread in a thin cover over the field to be sown to clover thus giving a liberal seeding.

The seed may be freed from the straw by running the clover through the separator if a grain separator is available. Although much of the clover seed will still be in chaff it can be sown without much trouble; also the chaff seed can be procured finally by flailing the seed out by hand. Chaff seed give just as good results as the clean seed and the only disadvantage in its use if the difficulty of distribution. It ought to be possible to get some of the men operating threshers to get attachments for their machines for cleaning clover seed, where there is a considerable amount of clover in a county. It is said that these attachments give satisfactory service and most manufacturers make the attachments.

Stopping to turn a stubborn page, the musician not infrequently finds the effect of his performance spoiled by an awkward pause. From France now comes an invention which will obviate this annoyance, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The music is printed, not on pages, but on a long strip, as is the practice with music for the player piano. Placed on motor-driven rolls, the music passes before the eyes of the player at any desired speed. The controlling lever is conveniently placed at one side.

The Economy of Using Goodyear Small Car Tires

So-called bargain tires, made up for sensational sales and offered at ridiculously low prices, do not attract careful buyers.

They are far more concerned with what they get than with what they pay because they know that in the end it is performance and not price that delivers actual tire economy.

The popularity of Goodyear Tires, of the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½- and 31 x 4-inch sizes, is based on the fact that they deliver exceptional mileage at exceedingly low cost.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30 x 3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread..... $23.50

30 x 3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available? $4.50 30 x 3½ size in waterproof bag

A WORD TO THOSE MOST INTERESTED

For some time, with the hope of eliciting interest in the building of a new hotel we have had an occasional article showing that such an investment would yield better dividends. To our own minds these arguments were convincing, and as an illustration of the accuracy of our conclusions we make the following statement: Danville has just completed and opened to the public a new hotel, The Gilmer, and we are reliably informed, its capacity has been taxed to the limit every day since its opening and from the very start it shows prospects of good dividends for the stockholders. A new building here would, in our opinion, be more profitable than the Danville hotel and would add greatly to every business represented here.

YOUR RED CROSS

The American Red Cross, by its Congressional charter, is officially designated:

To furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war, in accordance with the conventions of Geneva.

To act in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy.

To continue and carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace and to apply the same in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other great calamities.

To devise and carry on measures for preventing these causes of suffering.

FIRST AID TRAINING TO MEN AND WOMEN

American Red Cross Is Teaching Hundreds of Thousands Life-Saving Methods.

The purpose of instruction in First Aid to the injured offered by the American Red Cross is to train men and women to administer First Aid treatment promptly and intelligently when emergencies demand it. First Aid training is not intended to take the place of a physician's service. A surgeon should always be summoned as a precautionary measure where there is an injury of any consequence, but when one cannot be secured a few minutes' delay may mean a fatality. In such a case a person trained in First Aid is invaluable not only to the individual, but through him to the community in which he lives.

There is perhaps no way of ascertaining the number of deaths or serious disabilities which result from lack of proper safeguards or prompt emergency treatment. It is safe to assert they number thousands daily. There can be no doubt that the application of First Aid methods to each case would immeasurably lighten the country's toll of suffering and death.

The dissemination of First Aid training and information has already produced a far-reaching and beneficial influence in the prevention of accidents on railroads, in mines and in great industrial concerns.

The benefit of a widespread knowledge of First Aid in the event of a great disaster, such as a train wreck, an explosion, an earthquake, etc., is obvious. Laymen who have had First Aid training can render efficient assistance. Many lives may depend upon such emergency care.

Red Cross First Aid work includes (1) the formation and conduct, through Red Cross chapters, of classes for instruction in accident prevention and First Aid to the injured among men and women in all communities and in every industry; (2) the introduction of courses of instruction in high schools and colleges.

The Red Cross is prepared to supply First Aid books and equipment at reasonable prices.

Every person in this country able to do so should, in his own interest, receive Red Cross First Aid instruction. Information about the course and instruction classes may be had at the nearest chapter headquarters.

RED CROSS EXTENDS RELIEF TO POLAND

More than $5,000,000 has been spent by the American Red Cross in aiding the stricken people of Poland. The organization has nursed the sick, fed the starving, clothed the naked, sheltered the homeless, schooled the children and cared for the orphans there. It has conducted a relentless fight against typhus, cholera and other terrible diseases. So many millions of men and women in that resurrected nation stand in grateful appreciation of "The kindest Mother in the World."

Nearly 200 American Red Cross workers are now engaged in relief activities in Poland. Four large relief bases are in operation and eleven mobile units are in the field. During the last twelve months this organization was largely instrumental in the resettlement of a million refugees at a cost for general relief of more than $1,000,000. Last winter one-half million war orphans were aided materially, and since then a series of large orphanages have been established to give them permanent care.

But for American Red Cross aid, officials of Poland declared recently, millions of people in that country would have perished of disease, exposure or starvation the last eighteen months. And the work there must be kept up for another year.

SENATE WILL NOT JOIN HOUSE

By a vote of 17 to 9 the Tennessee Senate yesterday morning in effect refused to join with the House in an attempted reversal of ratification of the federal suffrage amendment.

The Senate's vote was recorded in favor of a motion to return to the House the latter's message announcing that it had voted to non-concur in the Senate's adoption of the ratification resolution and had expunged from its record the concurring vote of August 21.

The motion for the return of the House measure as passed carried an explanation that the ratification resolution had been taken from the Senate's hands and, therefore, no further jurisdiction over it was possessed by the Senate. The Senate disclaimed any intention of discourtesy.

Modernized Grammar.

The teacher of a New Hampshire school was one day examining a few of her select pupils in grammar. "Stand up, Johnnie, and make me a sentence containing the word 'seldom,'" she said, pointing to a small boy. Johnnie paused as if in thought, then with a flash of triumph on his face, replied: "Last week father had five horses, but yesterday he seldom!" —Boston Post.

Social Worm Turns.

An English paper inveighs against hosts and hostesses who look upon their guests as temporary chattels—creatures to be disposed of at will, amused, fed, exercised and finally herded to bed, entirely without reference to their own desires. Asphalt, with which so many roads are paved, was found by accident. For a century in Switzerland natural rock asphalt was used to extract the rich stores of bitumen it contained. SECRETARY COLBY SIGN OFFICIAL SUFFRAGE NOTICE

The proclamation announcing officially that the suffrage amendment to the constitution had been ratified was signed Friday by Secretary Colby, of the State Department.

The document was signed at eight o'clock in the morning at Mr. Colby's home when the certificate from Governor Roberts that the Tennessee Legislature had ratified the amendment was received.

Secretary Colby announced this action on his arrival at his office later.

The announcement disappointed a group of suffrage workers from headquarters of the National Woman's an's party who had gathered at the State department hoping to be present when Mr. Colby attached his signature to the proclamation. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the party, was among the number.

"We are confident that the signature of Secretary Colby completes the suffrage struggle in this country," she said. "In spite of every obstacle that our opponents could put in our way, women have won the right to an equal voice in the affairs of this government. The woman's party will not relax its vigilance, however, until it is satisfied that no further attempts will be made to wrest from the women of the United States the political equality which they have won."

Miss Paul has planned to go to New York to call a meeting of the executive committee of the party at which the date for the National convention to fix future policy will be decided.

Secretary Colby later sent word to the woman's party headquarters that he would see the suffrage leaders at his office if they desired. Word was sent back that Miss Paul was preparing to leave for New York; that the other leaders already had returned to their homes and that the invitation could not be accepted.

Secretary Colby had prepared a statement regarding ratification of the suffrage amendment which he planned to read to the officials of the National Woman's party had they accepted the invitation.

The women gave evidence of keen disappointment in not having had an opportunity to make something of a ceremony out of the signing of the proclamation and went back to headquarters planning an independent jubilation.

When the Secretary's invitation to return to his office was declined, another party of suffrage leaders appeared at the department. They were officials and members of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who is on her way to New York from Nashville. The invitation to hear Mr. Colby's statement was promptly accepted by this group and they filed into his office for the purpose.

KEPT THEIR BLOOD UNMIXED

San Blas Indians Claim That No Alien Strain Has Ever Been Mingled With Theirs.

The San Blas Indians occupy the Atlantic coast and the adjacent islands near the Colombian border, and are among the best natural sailors in the world, many of them going to sea on ships from the Panama canal. Their coast and islands are said to produce the best coconuts in the world. These natural seamen bring large loads of coconuts to Cristobal, piled high in their dugout sailboats, up the roughest bit of coast on the Caribbean, with the waves laving over the edge, and never lose a nut.

Their blood is probably the purest of any of the American Indians, as no men in the world have guarded their women with more jealousy and efficiency than the San Blas, is a statement made by C. R. Calhoun, in Everybody's. In a country everywhere touched with the blood of the West Indian negroes, the San Blas never show the slightest trace of any kind of mixture. Until a few years ago, and it is still often true, no men other than those of their own tribe were permitted to be ashore on their coasts or on their islands after sunset.

Courtship in the San Blas is a strenuous matter, especially for the bride-to-be. To win her the suitor must chase her and catch her in the water.

MAKE WAR ON FARM PESTS

Government Co-Operates With Farmers and Stockmen in Ridding Their Lands of Nuisances.

Under the direction of the bureau of biological survey one man poisoned approximately 2,000 prairie dogs in a single day on a 320-acre field in northern Arizona, 1,641 of the animals being counted in the open, while it was estimated the balance died in their holes.

Illustrative of the scope of the work, more than 3,500,000 acres of government land have been freed recently of prairie dogs by similar practices, the destruction being conducted by field parties and through the assistance of farmers and stockmen in New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota.

In addition to prairie-dog extermination, efficient government control has also been instituted against the ravages of ground squirrels, jack rabbits, pocket gophers and other rodents in the agricultural and grazing lands west of the Mississippi river.

NOTHING WRONG ABOUT SONG

Comedians Need Not Have Worried as to Words of Chinese Ditty They Did Not Understand.

When Fred Stone, the comedian, was in Washington he told how he and his old partner, Dave Montgomery, once learned and sang a Chinese song without knowing what it meant. Eventually the show in which they were singing came to Washington and Montgomery and Stone were horrified one night to notice that the most prominent box in the theater was occupied by members of the Chinese legation. Very nervously the two actors sang the song and then hastily retired to their dressing rooms. A few minutes later announcement reached them that the oriental visitors desired to pay them a call. The two actors almost passed away, fearing that they had offended the Chinese with the song, but finally they braced up and invited the Chinese to come in.

"Could you understand that song that we sang?" Stone asked anxiously.

"Oh, yes," the Chinese said. "What on earth does it mean," Stone eagerly inquired.

"Oh nothing," casually responded the oriental, "just one, two, three, four, one, two, three, four."

TURKISH WAR DEBT SMALL

Ottoman Empire Spent Comparatively Little in the Recent Convulsion of the World.

The war debt of the Ottoman empire is said by experts to have increased less than that of any other nation. Her bonded indebtedness was increased by only one new loan of about $80,000,000, and, adding to this other increases in obligations, such as home military requisitions and advances from Austria and Germany, her war expenses ran to only $600,000,000. Consequently, allowing for various offsets, her postwar indebtedness amounts to about $1,000,300,000.

This would make it appear that Turkey "ran the war on a shoestring," financially, as compared to Great Britain with her $40,000,000,000 war debt, or France with $30,000,000,000, and the United States with $25,000,000,000 and Italy with possibly $15,000,000,000. It will be recalled that on paper the Ottoman empire mobilized nearly 4,000,000 men, yet she escaped with something like the war expense of a country like little Roumania or Bulgaria.

A WONDERFUL NATION IS OURS

A great many of our own people, notes an exchange, delight in fostering the idea that these little old United States face dismal days ahead, and they've been harping on this pessimistic theory ever since the war ended.

Do you know that the United States has only 6 per cent of the population of the world and only 7 per cent of the land? And yet we produce:

- 20 per cent of the world's supply of gold.
- 25 per cent of the world's supply of wheat.
- 40 per cent of the world's supply of iron and steel.
- 40 per cent of the world's supply

- of lead.
- 40 per cent of the world's supply of silver.
- 50 per cent of the world's supply of zinc.
- 52 per cent of the world's supply of coal.
- 60 per cent of the world's supply of cotton.
- 60 per cent of the world's supply of copper.
- 60 per cent of the world's supply of aluminum.
- 66 per cent of the world's supply of oil.
- 75 per cent of the world's supply of corn.
- 85 per cent of the world's supply of automobiles.
- We also refine 85 per cent of the copper and operate 40 per cent of the world's railroads.
- Before the war we owed other nations $5,000,000,000. We have not only paid this debt, but foreign nations now owe us $10,000,000,000 and we hold the largest gold reserves of any nation in the world.

Conversation.
This business of conversation is a very serious matter. There are men that it weakens one to talk with an hour more than a day's fasting would do. Mark this that I am going to say, for it is as good as a working professional man's advice, and costs you nothing: It is better to lose a pint of blood from your veins than to have a nerve tapped. Nobody measures your nervous force as it runs away, nor bandages your brain and marrow after the operation.

No Shoes for Traveling.
A few of my friends and I went to a station nearby to camp and pick blueberries. On the first day, while traveling through some swamp land our feet became wet. That night I built a fire and placed my shoes and socks on a log near the fire, intending to watch them until they dried. I fell asleep and my footwear burned. The next day I went home on the train barefooted, to the amusement of all the passengers.—Chicago Tribune.

Really an Art.
To be bored and not show it, is one of the secrets of social success.—Boston Post.

Anonymous Writer Sought in Suicide Case

As the result of belief by relatives that a love affair caused Miss Luey Marlowe Horton, of Winchester, college girl, to end her life in a hotel at Ashland, a search will be made for the writer of the anonymous letter which led to identification of the body.

A relative of the girl from West Virginia is quoted as saying he is convinced that she killed herself because of a Union, W. Va., man. She had threatened to kill herself, he said, because the wedding constantly had been postponed.

A young man came to Ashland from West Virginia Thursday and went to the undertaker's establishment to view the body. Undertaker J. W. Mock said he felt certain the visitor recognized the girl, but he left without making any statement. The next day the anonymous letter was received from Page, W. Va.

That the undertaker's visitor, the writer of the letter and the girl's fiancé are one, is the belief in Ashland. The body was buried at Ashland Monday. The casket was covered with flowers from Ashland citizens. Relatives are convinced that the girl took her own life and no autopsy was made.

Miss Horton had been in a Winchester family for five years, going to live with them at the age of 18, from Virginia, and was 23 years old when life ended. She was said to be a very bright woman, and had prepared herself to teach and was on the road to take charge of a school she had been engaged to teach when the fatal moment came.
